

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No need for underground adoption

October 31, 2013

As a former member of the National Advisory Board on Adoptions and retired Executive Director of the Jewish Child and Family Services I want to wholeheartedly endorse Rep. Sara Feigenholtz's (D-Chicago) position on Internet adoptions. Children are not chattel to be bargained, traded or sold in any manner. There are scores of outstanding social service agencies licensed for adoption services. There are hundreds of qualified families waiting to adopt a child. There is no need for the underground adoption trade. It should be terminated immediately.

— Robert Bloom, Highland Park

Copyright © 2013 Chicago Tribune Company, LLC